- ✓ Find out your legal rights in Romania and the procedure to register with the authorities at dopomoha.ro/uk
- ✓ Make sure that, on Romanian ground, you primarily come in contact with professionals, firefighters, police officers, social workers, psychologists, medical staff, civil servants, and specialized NGOs personnel.
- ✓ Make sure that you know the address where you will be accommodated. Send the details to someone you trust and to the Romanian authorities so you can be monitored.
- ✓ You have the right to refuse support from citizens or organizations if you have any suspicions and the option to directly address to the authorities.
- ✓ Nobody is allowed to retain your personal documents, except for the police. If anyone is soliciting this from you, no matter the reasons, refuse and report the situation.
- ✓ Nobody is allowed to solicit sexual services against your will or to force you to work or beg in exchange for the offered support. This is a crime - human trafficking!
- ✓ Call 112 if you realize you are in immediate danger! (Or 119 for abuses against children.)
- ✓ Choose a safety password, a secret word which can be easily dropped in a text or call, to discreetly announce that you are in danger. Share this password with someone trustworthy who can call the authorities or the specialists who operate the Crisis Textline at eLiberare.
